Elizabeth House is named in memory of Elizabeth Reilly, RN, the mother of a former Four Seasons’ board member and retired pediatrician, the late Kathleen McGrady. The inpatient facility represents what this pioneer stood for -- compassionate care. It was Elizabeth’s passion to care for patients with a terminal illness, particularly in the area of pain alleviation. During World War II, she worked as a civilian nurse in an Army hospital where she cared for those facing constant pain.

Opened in 1999 with 12 beds, Elizabeth House has been supported generously and consistently by the community. In response to a need for growth in inpatient services Elizabeth House expanded to 19 beds with the opening of the Charles W. McGrady wing in 2007. The Cooper Family Wing, given by brothers Tom and Mike Cooper, and the Seiler Family Wing, given by Robert Seiler, were named in 2018.

Four Seasons is grateful to serve the community in thirteen Western North Carolina counties.

Elizabeth House provides a home-like environment where care is provided to patients facing serious, life-limiting illness. In this setting our interdisciplinary team addresses challenging symptoms that cannot be managed elsewhere.

Every moment spent with your loved one is precious; therefore, visitors are not only welcomed, but encouraged, including children, at all hours of the day and night. Pets are often part of the family – so they are welcome, too. (Leash or carrier required)

Elizabeth House also provides up to 5-days of Medicare-eligible respite care that gives families or caregivers a much-needed break.

When your loved one needs 24-hour in-patient hospice care, only the absolute best care will do. At Elizabeth House, your loved one’s physical, emotional, and spiritual needs can be addressed by our compassionate team of hospice professionals. This incredible care, soothing atmosphere, and supportive environment provides relief for both patients and families during this difficult journey.

Our common spaces are great areas for gathering and making yourself at home. Our family room features comfortable seating, television, aquarium, dining area, coffee bar, and full kitchen.

Each patient resides in a comfortable room with homemade quilts and cozy decor, a sleeper sofa for loved ones and a view of the grounds with a bird feeder at each window. Rooms also include an adjacent family area with more seating and doors that lead to a semi-private patio with rocking chairs.

Loved ones find solace on the grounds of Elizabeth House in the Dan and Nancy Barber Veteran’s Memorial Garden, a beautiful space for peaceful reflection. A walk around the gardens reveals an abundance of beautiful plants, birds, and the occasional butterfly.
